

Showcasing GTD

We were excited to host students from Greenville High School for a tour of our facility. The group had the chance to see our machining, tooling, and design processes up close, and our team enjoyed answering their questions about manufacturing and skilled trades.

We're always proud to support local students as they explore career paths in modern manufacturing, and we look forward to welcoming more future makers into our shop!

Promotion Alert

Please join us in congratulating Dwayne MacLaren on his well-deserved promotion to Program Manager.

Dwayne began his journey with us back in 1994. For 20 years, he mastered his craft as a Die Maker, later earning a promotion to Die Leader thanks to his exceptional skill, dedication, and leadership. He continued to grow his expertise by spending the last 11 years in our simulation Department.

Where he played a vital role in our team's success.

This promotion is a testament to his hard work, deep knowledge, and unwavering commitment to excellence. We are excited to see him bring his experience and leadership to his new role!

GTD History Corner

Established in 1973, the Quarter Century of Service Plaque was created to honor employees who have dedicated 25 years or more to Greenville Tool & Die. What began with just four names has grown remarkably over the past 52 years. As we enter 2025, the plaques now proudly display 113 individuals whose commitment, hard work, and loyalty have shaped GTD into the company it is today.

Holiday Celebrations

To start off the holiday season, employees enjoyed a pulled pork lunch for Thanksgiving courtesy of Shane Tiffany's family along with GTD. Our raffle committee donated $3,600 worth of presents for Toys for Tots along with donating a whole cow to local food pantries. GTD is so proud of those involved to support our community during the holiday season along with those who donated throughout the year to make this possible! Leading up to Christmas, we also enjoyed a potluck and catered lunch with giveaways for employees. On behalf of everyone at GTD, we wish you a happy holiday season!

This year's deer season brought plenty of excitement and some impressive harvests! Our team members proudly shared photos of their successful hunts. It's always great to see the stories, smiles, and outdoor adventures that bring us together beyond the workplace. Thanks to everyone who contributed their pictures, and congratulations on a safe and successful season!
