

CREATING EXCELLENCE

Big news! We're adding some new equipment to our lineup, giving us more capability and flexibility to do what we do best. We're excited about what this new bridge mill means for the work ahead!

Career Days

Career fair season has sprung! In the month of March our HR generalist, Sarah, visited FIVE schools in hopes to find the newest generation of Tool & Die makers.

Tool & Die Fun Facts

Extreme precision is our normal! Tool and die makers often work to tolerances of ± 0.0001 inches, that's thinner than a human hair

It's a "hidden" career. Most people never see tool and die work, yet manufacturing would stop without it.

1ST QUARTER SERVICE AWARDS

We would like to congratulate the following employees for reaching service milestones:

MICHAEL DAVIS - RETIREMENT ANNOUNCEMENT!

Mike graduated from Carson City High School in 1985 and began his tool and die career at Tomco Tool & Die in October 1986. He completed his apprenticeship there in 1991, and in 2003 he continued his work at GTD following the merger. Throughout his career, Mike had the opportunity to travel internationally, spending three weeks in China setting up string dies and traveling to various areas in Mexico.

One of the greatest and most lasting takeaways from his time at GTD has been the lifelong friendships built along the way. What began as common goals turned into lasting bonds.

Outside of work, Mike celebrated his 31st wedding anniversary with his wife, Lorenda. Together they have two children, Michael and Mekenzie. Their family has grown in recent years. Michael and his wife, Isabel, have one son, Louie, who will turn three in April, with another baby due in May. Their daughter, Mekenzie, and her husband, Caleb, are expecting their first child in July.

Mike loves to hunt with both gun and bow and enjoys being able to hunt on his 60 acres with his son, son-in-law, and good friend, Brian Lake. He also enjoys shooting sporting clays, skeet, and trap. Additionally, he likes getting creative with grilling and looks forward to spending more time making venison pepper sticks and venison salami.

In retirement, Mike is looking forward to spending quality time with his family and taking many road trips with his wife. He's eager for early mornings in the woods hunting, evenings by the water fishing, and walking the fields planning the next food plot. Most of all, he's excited to pass it all on, teaching his grandchildren the same way his dad taught him.

GTD thanks you for everything, Mike. We wish you the very best in this next adventure!

JOSEPH DEMPSEY - RETIREMENT ANNOUNCEMENT!

A 1983 graduate of Greenville High School, Joe's work ethic started early, working at Rodee's Restaurant from just 16 years old through graduation. After high school, he continued building his career at Master Unit Die and Federal Mogul before finding his long-term home here at GTD in 1990, where he started as an apprentice and dedicated the rest of his career.

Over the years, what stood out most wasn't just his commitment to the job, but the relationships he built along the way, valuing the people he's worked with and for forming lasting friendships. Joe shared that one of the highlights of his career was working under Stan, who he considered one of the best company owners he ever had.

Outside of work, his greatest pride is his family. He married his wife Gail in September of 1984, and together they raised three children, Brad, Matt, and Sarah. Today, they're blessed with six amazing grandchildren who all live nearby, something they've always been incredibly grateful for.

If you know him, you also know his passion for hunting! When he's not in the woods, you can find him bowling, golfing, playing a lot of cornhole, or mowing the lawn... a lot (though Gail might say that's occasionally used as an excuse not to go somewhere!). In retirement, Joe is looking forward to spending more time with Gail and enjoying life at their own pace, something they've both worked hard for over the years. And they're not wasting any time getting started, with a 12-day trip to Alaska planned at the end of May!

GTD is grateful for you and we wish you the best, enjoy retirement!
